Curriculum

The curriculum offered encourages children to develop positive attitudes about themselves as well as to people who are different from themselves. It encourages children to empathise with others and to begin to develop the skills of critical thinking.

Our environment is as accessible as possible for all visitors and service users. If access to the settings is found to treat disabled children or adults less favourably then we make reasonable adjustments to accommodate the needs of disabled children and adults. We do this by:

- making children feel valued and good about themselves;
- ensuring that children have equality of access to learning;
- undertaking an access audit to establish if the setting is accessible to all children;
- making adjustments to the environment and resources to accommodate a wide range of learning, physical and sensory impairments;
- making appropriate provision within the curriculum to ensure each child receives the widest possible opportunity to develop their skills and abilities, e.g. recognising the different learning styles of girls and boys;
- positively reflecting the widest possible range of communities in the choice of resources;
- avoiding stereotypes or derogatory images in the selection of books or other visual materials;
- celebrating a wide range of festivals;
- creating an environment of mutual respect and tolerance;
- differentiating the curriculum to meet children's special educational needs;
- helping children to understand that discriminatory behaviour and remarks are hurtful and unacceptable;
- ensuring that the curriculum offered is inclusive of children with special educational needs and children with disabilities;
- ensuring that children learning English as an additional language have full access to the curriculum and are supported in their learning; and

-)
- ensuring that children speaking languages other than English are supported in the maintenance and development of their home languages.

Valuing diversity in families

- We welcome the diversity of family lifestyles and work with all families.
- We encourage children to contribute stories of their everyday life to the setting.

Legal framework

- The Equality Act 2010
- Children Act 1989 & 2004
- Children and Families Act 2014
- Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice 2014

Legislative Context

The Equality Act 2010 has replaced all existing legislation such as the Race Relations Act, Disability Discrimination Act and Sex Discrimination Act and provides a single, consolidated source of discrimination law. The new act introduces the concept of Protected Characteristics and makes it unlawful for a childcare setting to discriminate against a child, prospective child, or person with whom they are closely associated by treating them less favorably because of their:

- | | |
|----------------------------|---------------------------|
| ▪ age | ▪ race; |
| ▪ gender; | ▪ disability; |
| ▪ gender reassignment; | ▪ sexual orientation; and |
| ▪ marital status; | ▪ religion or belief. |
| ▪ pregnancy and maternity; | |

The Act also defines four types of unlawful behaviour as Direct Discrimination, Indirect Discrimination, Harassment and Victimisation.

The three general and specific duties on childcare settings – race, disability and gender – to eliminate discrimination and promote equality of opportunity have been combined into a single, outcome focused duty, which came into effect in April 2011.

This duty requires all public bodies to have due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment or victimisation
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it, and
- Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not.

This new Equalities Policy is therefore intended to provide an overarching policy which encompasses all of the previous duties. Cambo Wraparound currently has detailed policies and action plans in place under the previous separate duties and, for the moment, this policy should be read with close reference to them.
